DEAF AND BLIND PAGEANT IS BIG SUCCESS; THOUSANDS WITNESS MAY FROLIC ON CAMPUS AT STATE SCHOOL

Surpassing all expectations, pupils of the Utah School for the Deaf and Blind scored their biggest and ninth success when they presented on the south campus their pageant, "The Story of the Deaf." Before thousands which gathered to witness the festival, arrayed in charming costumes and realistic gowns, the pupils of the school entertained and enchanted their audience by their dancing.

The festival program was opened by the presentation of the graduation class. Grant Morgan of Spanish Fork, Utah, received his diploma for the completion of the high school course at the school.

Interesting and entertaining from the very first scene until the last, the students of the school were cheered and warmly applauded. Under the direction of Mrs. Isabelle S. Ross, the program of dances was carried out without a hitch. The pageant was written by Murray Allen of the school faculty, and portrayed the struggle of the deaf against intolerance and neglect to a position of happiness and achievement through the blessings of education. From the earliest time in history, when the deaf girl came for the consolation of her companions, she was repulsed and driven away, and her only comfort was knowledge, whose helping and sympathizing hand led the girl onward, until a life of joy and contentment is found in study and service.

The pageant is opened by the Five Senses, who revel and dance on the grass. Wonderfully characterized by Mona Locklitter, Vida Crawford, Elsie Lamb, Gladys Jones and Corinne Wood, each of the senses portraying Sight, Taste, Touch, Smell and Hearing, give their solo dances. When some girls enter, seeking the blessing of the "senses," they are bestowed with the gifts of the senses. Both the girls and the "senses" join together in a dance of joy and gratitude, but while dancing, hearing strays away from her companions and is lost. A maiden enters for the blessing of the five senses and only four are able to give their blessings. When the maiden discovers that she cannot hear, she is desolate, but knowledge comes to her and calls upon nature to lend so-

St. Mary's Hospital Promised Financial Backing by Ogden Men

Plans for the proposed St. Mary's hospital took a bound forward last night when more than sixty of Ogden's representative citizens assembled at the banquet given by Mrs. P. M. Cushman at the Weber club and unanimously voted financial and moral backing for the new hospital.

W. H. Wattis, vice president of the board of trustees of the Thomas D. Dee Memorial hospital presided as toastmaster.

Need of Hospital
In his opening remarks Mr. Wattis assured Mrs. Cushman that the Dee hospital trustees and officers would co-operate fully in the enterprise and work hand in hand with St. Mary's. He told of the crowded conditions of the Dee hospital and spoke of the need of another establishment to care for the people who required medical and surgical attention.

Persons who by the crowded condition of the Dee hospital are compelled to go to other towns for treatment will find adequate facilities in Ogden with the completion of St. Mary's, he said.

Mrs. Cushman Speaks
Monsignor Cushman was the first speaker. He spoke of the necessity of another hospital in a city of Ogden's size, which will be more felt in the near future when by Ogden's rapid growth present hospital facilities will be found inadequate. He called attention to the number of persons from out of town who come to Ogden for treatment and have to go elsewhere to find accommodations.

It is necessary from a humanitarian standpoint, he said, Monsignor Cushman paid a warm tribute to Mrs. Thomas D. Dee and her great charitable work in making possible the present hospital. "There will be no opposition between the hospitals," said the monsignor, "we can not now begin to take care of all of the cases that come to Ogden. Our doctors and business men have emphasized the necessity of another hospital and we have taken the step."

He announced that his was a source of pride and gratification to tell the assembly of the magnanimity of Hon. and Mrs. A. R. Heywood. Mr. Heywood donated the site for the hospital at Twenty-seventh street and Harrison avenue and Mrs. Heywood has contributed $5000 toward the building of the hospital in memory of her mother, Mrs. Mary B. Guthrie.

He further said: "The Catholic church has Sisters of Charity who have dedicated their lives to hospital work. They are highly trained and as everyone knows there are none better than these sisters in attending the sick."

Other Speakers
Other speakers included Hon. A. R. Heywood, Rev. John W. Hyslop, C. A. Boyd, Judge A. W. Agge, Warren L. Wattis, president of the Weber club and Ogden Chamber of Commerce, Dr. E. M. Conroy, Rev. John Edward Carter, O. J. Sullivan, Dr. R. S. Joyce, Dr. Ezra C. Rich and Supt. Frank M. Briggs.

They spoke of the civic asset the new hospital would be, explaining the importance of Ogden being able to care for patients from the surrounding states; how business would be benefited by contributions through the regular trade channels and the benefit to Ogden's workmen who will be employed on the structure.

A committee to solicit subscriptions was appointed.
